Yep, your English is far better rather than what Google translator considers German language..... !

Thank you for your immediate reply !

Great, just take some photos of your own set and upload them to this forum. Always welcome here !

By the way, I just edited the header, so now, everyone should know what this is about. And I removed the photo taken from radiomuseum.

However, locating such parts for such old sets is usually a tough job. May take quite a while....

Hope you're not disappointed if no one has the part you're searching for.

You may place a reminder here every few months that you're still searching, then we won't remove your post (otherwise, we remove older posts in this "Wanted-Or-for-Sale" section from time to time)

Best regards from Hamburg !
