Yep, your English is far better rather than what Google translator considers German language.....!

Thank you for your immediate reply!

Great, just take some photos of your own set and upload them to this forum. Always welcome here!

By the way, I just edited the header, so now, everyone should know what this is about. And I removed the photo taken from radiomuseum.

However, locating such parts for such old sets is usually a tough job. May take quite a while.... Hope you're not disappointed if no one has the part you're searching for.

You may place a reminder here every few months that you're still searching, then we won't remove your post (otherwise, we remove older posts in this "Wanted-Or-for-Sale" section from time to time)

Best regards from Hamburg!
