8o Sorry, found typos in my previous post but I am unable to edit it.

The correct penultimate sentence is:

It could be very interesting to know more about this unusual tube: its operating frequency, the approximate year of manufacture and its manufacturer. By the way, it could well be manufactured in Russia, at the Institute 160 in Fryazino, where replicas of several German magnetrons were built after the end of the war.

Sorry again,

Emilio
