That definitely helps. This number is also a 12NC (standard 12 digit code), and it confirms medical use. From the first four digits 45 stands for Philips Medical Systems, 12 for Germany. From this I suspect this tube might have been intended as an electron source in a radiation therapy system (Therac or such) since it doesn't look like a normal x-ray tube.

I'll ask some other people who might be able to confirm the usage.

Best regards from Delft!
