Hello maarten,

Thank You for your continued help !

Yep, the overall appearance of this thing made me wonder from the very first moment what this could be - and, if it is an x-ray tube, where do the rays leave it ? So there probably are no x-rays to leave it... But what else could it have been made for ? You probably already presented the solution.

We'll see what the 'other people' will tell about it.

BTW., keep in mind : There's no need to hurry !

Best regards from Hamburg !
